

2,581 ENROLLED IN CLASSROOMS ON FIRST DAY

Salem Public School Enrollment Is Higher
This Year

900 PUPILS CROWD
HIGH SCHOOL BLDG.

Assignment of Teachers Announced by Superintendent Kerr

Establishing a new record for opening day enrollment at Salem
High school, an even 900 students of the Freshman, Sophomore, Junior and Senior classes were present at the start of the 1937-38 term today.

The previous mark for opening enrollment was 848 students. This mark was set at the beginning of school last year.

Supt. E. S. Kerr, who announced
the enrollment figures, said he expects the High school mark to soar well above 900 within the next few weeks.

Expect Late Arrivals
Within one week after the opening of school last year we had 70 more students than we did on the first day. Kerr said in explaining that students registering late will boost the High school enrollment
figure considerably.

An increase over last year in opening day enrollment for the entire public school system also was reported. A check-up at all school buildings showed an enrollment total of 2,581 students as compared to a total of 2,544 for last year.

Kerr explained the total enrollment figure was kept down to some extent by the fact that a number of students at Prospect school were unable to report to classes when a rural school bus broke down.

The Junior High school registration this morning was 425 students, an increase of 14 over the first day enrollment figure of last year are as follows:

Comparative statistics on opening day enrollment in all public schools this year as against last year is as follows:

Teachers Assigned
Columbia school, 196 this year as against 196 for last year; Fourth Street, 341 this year against 344
last year; McKinley, 296 against 296; Prospect, 194 against 212;
Kelly, 224 against 221; Junior High, 425 against 411 and High school, 900 against 848.

The following teaching assignments also were announced today
by Supt. Kerr:

Duke Doesn't Want To Go To London On Christmas Alone

(By Associated Press)
VIENNA, Sept. 9.—The plans of the Duke of Windsor for a Christmas visit to England are up in the air, it was reported today, because he does not want to go home alone.

Today Edward and his bride, the former Wallis Warfield, arrived at Castle Borsodivance in Hungary
after a trip from their honeymoon retreat at Neotisch, Austria.

Thereupon this story appeared in usually reliable circles about a meeting of the Duke and Lord Brownlow, his former gentleman-in-waiting, in Vienna.

Discussing the proposed Christmas visit, Lord Brownlow suggested it would be possible for Edward to go to London alone.

Edward insisted that the Duchess, also, should be welcomed.
Lord Brownlow intimated that this seemed somewhat doubtful, in view of the continuing world publicity about the Windsors.

As a result, the Duke's tentative plans—including a world cruise
and a trip to the United States
—were believed to be in a complete state of uncertainty.

School Bond Issue For East Liverpool

EAST LIVERPOOL, Sept. 9.—
The board of education, with jurisdiction over the city proper, Liverpool township and the southwest precinct of St. Clair township, has ordered a vote at the Nov. 2 election on a $235,000 bond issue to erect a 22-room junior high school here.

City council has certified a resolution for a vote on renewal of a one-mill tax levy for maintenance of the 10-man fire department for five years. A levy, in effect for 10 years, will expire Dec. 31.

K. of C. Members Hear Col. O'Leary

Colonel O'Leary of New Haven, Conn., a member of the board of directors of the supreme council of the Knights of Columbus, was guest speaker at the meeting of the Salem K. of C. lodge last night.

Plans for Catholic day at Peace
Valley park, near East Palestine,
Sept. 19, in which all K. of C. councils of the county will participate,
were discussed at the meeting.

REPUBLICANS GATHER TODAY AT ALLIANCE

Ohio G. O. P. Chiefs To Honor F. F. Taggart,
Committeeman

JOHN HAMILTON
AMONG VISITORS

National Chairman denies
He Is Thinking of Resigning

ALLIANCE, Sept. 9.—This city
was host today to leading Ohio Republicans, gathered for a dinner
honoring F. F. Taggart, of Massillon, national G. O. P. committeeman for Ohio.

The guest list included John D.
M. Hamilton, national Republican chairman, who will speak at the dinner.

Others to attend are: Myers Y.
Cooper, Robert Taft, James G.
Stewart and Gilbert Bettman, of Cincinnati; John Bricker and Ed
Schorr; state chairman, Columbus and James T. Begg, David S. Ingalls, Reeves Davis, Daniel Morgan, and George Bender, Cleveland.

Pausing in Akron on his way
here, Hamilton denied he was giving any thought to resigning.

"The national chairman always is fair game for the political gossip-ers," Hamilton said, referring to rumors that he would step out.

Hey, Kiddies! Don't Forget County Fair 'School Day' Sept. 16

LISBON, Sept. 9.—In the early days of the Columbiana county fair children were given no particular encouragement.

Sometimes an advanced thinker removed his or her youngster from school for a day, feeling that the exhibits would be more instructive than text books. But generally the kids had a circus status, sneaking
in after school or doing some minor choir to gain admittance.

But that's all changed now. The fair board makes a special effort to interest youngsters in the big fall event. Thursday, Sept. 16, the final day, has been designated 4-H club and school day and the majority of teachers in the county will dismiss classes for the occasion.

The fair opens Tuesday, Sept. 14,
running for three days.

Four-H clubs from all sections of the county are submitting entries and cash awards totaling an imposing figure will be tendered successful entrants. The fair board has set aside $500 for 4-H club work. Part of this money will go for trip to state meetings, club
camps, pins and other necessary expenses. The balance, however, will be used for fair premiums and transportation awards.

The latter includes coil and dairy projects, sheep and swine projects, poultry and rabbit projects. Club premiums will be paid on the basis of membership, the number of members exhibiting and the general quality of work. All exhibits are subject to the general rules of the fair.

Floyd Lower, county agricultural extension agent and John Strausbaugh, assistant, are in charge of the division of fair activities.

Test Legality of Theater Contest

MARION, Sept. 9.—Jury of 10
men and two women was seated yesterday in the court of Municipal Judge William R. Martin to hear
charge of Police Chief William E.
Marks against George E. Planck, manager of a theater, in what is believed to be Ohio's first test
of legality of sweepstakes or bank night.

City Solicitor Ralph E. Carhart contends the game constitutes a lottery or scheme of chance. Defense Counsel J. Malcolm Strelitz and Harry L. Dowler in opening statements said they expect evidence to show an important element of game of chance—the payment of consideration by the player for the right to participate—is lacking in sweepstakes game, that the game is of the type widely used in business, especially in radio, to create goodwill, and that the police raid on the theater constituted unfair discrimination against the theater.

The applicants are: Salem—Joseph Balan, Margaret Bancik, Anna
Louise Schach, Stanko Saulo, Elena
Oana, Maria Migliarini, Anna Vild, Enrica Clotto, Maria Liebhart, Frederich W. Schach, Victoria Cosgaret and Igina Migliarini.

Lisbon—Nazzuli Ambrogio, Ca-
terina F. Gallo, Carmeno Perrino, Laura Arrowsmith, Mary Armetti.

East Liverpool—Fanny Reich,
Mary Jane Cook, Edith M. Thornley, Nikola Brdar, John Bodinar.

Wellsville—Amanda Smith, Al-
fonso Gerace, Giovanni Amato, Martino Lurissi.

Leontina—Francis J. Calvino, Rossario Sposato, Francesco Mancusco.

netti.

Youngstown Gunmen Who Killed Tisone May Be Brady Men

YOUNGSTOWN, Sept. 9.—The possibility that the three young desperadoes who killed James Tisone, 52, a beer garden proprietor
here yesterday, might be connected with the notorious Al Brady gang, was studied by police today as they compared bertillon pictures of the gang with descriptions given by witnesses in the shooting.

Arresting Dentist Fines His Patient

BELLEVUE, Sept. 9.—Arrested
on a charge of reckless driving,
Fletcher Holt of Cleveland told Mayor R. E. Woleslagel that he was enroute to see a dentist for treatment of a severe toothache.

To Holt's embarrassment, the major identified himself as a dentist, gave the defendant a en-dental examination, and fined him $25
when he found nothing was wrong.

FALL FESTIVAL DATES CHANGED

Legion-Sponsored Event
Here Will Be Held
October 8, 9

A change in dates for Salem's annual Fall Festival, sponsored by Charles H. Carey post, No. 56,
American Legion, was announced
today by Legion Commander H. E.
Zepernick.

The festival was scheduled originally for Sept. 24 and 25, but under the new plans it will be held Friday and Saturday, Oct. 8 and 9.

Merchants of the city cooperate annually with the Legion in conducting the affair.

One of the leading attractions of the festival is expected to be the amateur show which will be in charge of Eddie Howell, assisted by Russell Jones.

Amateur entertainers of all kinds will compete in elimination tryouts for the right to participate in the finals.

Another feature will be an old-time fiddlers contest. Entries for this contest are now being received.

The committee in charge of arrangements for the festival includes Ray Pearce, Fred Ludington and Commander Zepernick.

MAHONING JURY PROBE AT END

Two SWOC Workers Indicted On Steel Strike
Charges

(By Associated Press)
YOUNGSTOWN, Sept. 9.—Seventeen persons, among them Robert Burke and John Stephenson,
SWOC workers, were indicted today
when the Mahoning county May term grand jury completed its investigation of cases resulting from the steel strike.

Burke, previously indicted on two counts when the jury lodged charges against more than 150 persons, was charged today with "criminal syndicalism" for his part in a meeting June 9 when it is alleged he urged "listeners to shoot any police officers or other persons who would attempt to quell
their riotous conduct or disperse them."

Stephenson, alias Steuben, indicted on a similar count as the result of an incident June 5 when he allegedly led a crowd trying to prevent passage of railroad cars
into the Sheet and Tube Co. plant.

The action was brought by Eva Baumgarner, eight-year old East Liverpool boy, crippled in a traffic accident two years ago, won a new trial in his $25,000 damage suit against Albert Kraft of St. Clair township, Wednesday.

The petition states Kraft's car struck the boy July 6, 1935, while the latter was crossing an East Liverpool street. As a result of the accident the plaintiff declares his right ankle was permanently injured. He charged Kraft with negligence.

Kraft testified at the original trial the youngster had darted out on the road and ran into the side of his car.

Can't See U. S. As Dictatorial Nation

LAKESIDE, Sept. 9.—Hubert C.
Herring, director of the council for eventually become Communist or Fascist.

In an address last night to dele-

France, Great Britain To Fight "Pirates"; Report 4,000 Japanese Ambushed

U. S. CONSULATE IS ENDANGERED

Three Shells Crash At Entrance; Chinese Surprise Japs

(By Associated Press)
SHANGHAI, Sept. 9.—Three one pounder shells crashed directly in front of the American consulate-general today, seriously injuring three Chinese civilians and one British Sikh policeman.

The "pom-pom" shells were fired from Chinese guns just north of the International Settlement border, apparently at four low-flying Japanese bombers.

Just previously one hundred additional American marines had been landed from Admiral Harry Yarnell's yacht Isabel after a hurried trip from Tsingtao. They swelled the United States land forces to 1,300 marines.

Behind Fortifications
The marines were moved into place immediately behind the fortifications lining the northern border of the International Settlement, where the American forces guard the most hazardous section of the boundary.

Chinese troops clung tenaciously to their main lines on all fronts in the face of incessant and sustained attacks from the combined Japanese army, airforce and navy.

A detachment of 4,000 Japanese troops was reported today to have been wiped out by a deadly Chinese ambush in the rocky hills west of Peiping.

The Japanese line was said to have been thrust back five miles
by the sudden Chinese onslaught.

Japanese commanders were obviously more and more worried over the fate of their operations in this area, where their advance has been halted by a full month by dogged Chinese resistance and astute strategy.

Rush Reinforcements
Heavy reinforcements were flowing through Peiping to Ling-hsiang, 30 miles to the south, and to the sorely menaced Japanese right flank in the western hills around Mentoukou, 25 miles to the west.

The steady stream of wounded Japanese coming back from the front was almost equally heavy.

The barricade of obsolete steamers and Chinese junks loaded with sand and concrete effectively blocked the Japanese fleet from spreading its activities far up river from Shanghai. It meant that any considerable advance of the Japanese would place their land forces beyond the protecting range of their warships' guns.

The barrier also bottled up the United States fleet of river gun boats on the Yangtze and made more difficult the evacuation of 1,200 war-weakened refugees of Hankow, 550 miles up the Yangtze
from Shanghai, as well as other Americans in various parts of the valley.

Nearly 500 American officers and sailors are aboard the six gun boats marooned up the river. They have food supplies for six months, however, and Admiral Yarnell felt no concern for their safety.

DEVILTRY

Submarines preying on merchant ships in the Mediterranean are called pirates by governments whose flags have been violated by attack.

Of course, everybody knows pirates don't own submarines and that the purpose of the attacks isn't to rob, but to terrorize. But classifying the marauders as pirates has this advantage.

It furnishes an unassailable excuse for the victims of the undeclared naval warfare in the Mediterranean to defend themselves. Great Britain and France have announced they will convoy each other's merchant ships, for instance.

No halfway measures will be taken. If any submarine (pirates) are attacked they will be destroyed. Otherwise, it might come out that the pirates are sailors of a "friendly" power.

But what can be expected from this lethal bit of devilry?—probably the most dangerous scheme the strong-arm boys have tried so far in their drive to remodel the world to suit themselves.

On the basis of past performances, simply this: The first submarine destroyed in the Mediterranean will be called an "incident," and the owner will demand reparations, apologies and other impossible conditions. The slaughter in Shanghai, it shouldn't be forgotten, started because Japanese soldiers had the bad luck to get killed first.

NEW WORLDS

Russia's aggressive exploitation of the Arctic, recently brought into the focus of world interest by airplane flights across the top of the world to North America, is the background for a recent triumph of exploration along the coast of northernmost Canada.

The dream of Arctic voyagers for hundreds of years was fulfilled Sept. 3 when two Canadian ships, one moving east from Cambridge Bay in the western Arctic ocean, the other moving west from Hudson Strait met in Bellot Strait, having charted a new and shorter "northwest passage."

Inside the Arctic circle is the unexploited material for a new empire at the top of the world—an empire to be had for the taking—the last frontier for hardy men anxious to prove that courage and skill can conquer the polar regions just as they have conquered in the temperate zones and the tropics.

Geography books a few centuries hence may attach more importance to what is being done inside the Arctic circle than what Japan and Italy seek to do in China and Ethiopia. They walk on ground trodden for centuries. Russia and Canada have pressed into territory still unknown.

POLITICAL MONOPOLY

If an American political party could intrench itself so completely in Washington that foreign governments felt obliged to send official representatives to its convention, then—too late—it would be easier to understand what it is that "must not happen here."

The Nazi party, now holding its annual convention, is the German government; the government is the Nazi party. It is the same in Russia, where the Communist party is the government, though Russian Communists still try to maintain an illusion of duality.

It means that the natural desire to stay on top of the political heap is fulfilled by maintaining an unnatural and coercive political monopoly, instead of by soliciting popular approval. There is no competition. Opposition is not fought in the open; it is destroyed. The Russian and German blood purges and the earlier terrorism as practiced by Italian fascists are the result.

This is not fascism, nor communism. It is autocracy. The method is more deadly than the creed it serves. Without autocracy—the real threat to civilization—fascism or communism might be endurable. But without autocracy they wouldn't need to be endured.

O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

NEW YORK, Sept. 9—Somehow a couple of writers exchanging punches appeals to the news rooms. Perhaps because such fistfights are so rare and that scribbles are associated with a certain aestheticism. The most recent of the mixups was that between Ernest Hemingway and Max Eastman.

While there were only two or three actual eyewitnesses the bars and grills buzzed with a hundred versions for the next ten days. Hemingway was knocked galleywest across a desk with an upper cut. Eastman was slapped with a book and fainted and so on.

Hemingway made some crack about hair on his chest and that was duck-soup for the reporters and paragraphers. No wonder he sailed hastily for Spain the next day. Anyway it proved against the public will look upon a fist fight between litterateurs as only hanky-panky.

Sinclair Lewis and Theodore Dreiser had a go several years ago at a dinner Ray Long gave at the Metropolitan club. I have heard at least a dozen eyewitness versions. The truth is nobody saw the scrap. Dreiser invited Lewis into a private room and delivered a sharp smack or so.

Then there is the following, outraged fellow who roars into the news rooms to lick the editor. I saw but one of the breed, peeping out from my reserved seat under the copy desk to which I hastily slid when he arrived. It was in East Liverpool, O., about 3 a. m. and he had just come down from the West Virginia mountains, wild, woolly and full of fleas. Our editor was a tall, thin and bookish fellow gazing upon the world through enormously thick glasses. But had plenty of red corpuscles. He permitted the bully to shout awhile until he passed an epithet reflecting on the editor's mother. Like a wild cat he was at his throat, scratching, kicking, biting and uttering a strange sound that sounded for all the world like a squealing pig. They rolled down the wooden stairs together and when police came the editor was still astride, doing his stuff. The next day he resigned as though ashamed of his rage.

E. B. White, who affected a coyness while writing his sometimes whimsical and sometimes atrocious paragraphs for The New Yorker, is about the only writer of his time to give up a fairly good job—just to get away from it all and think things over. He asked for a year's absence but his friends say he will never go back. The world for him is just too perfectly disillusioning. His successor was regarded as an odd choice, a graduate manager of athletics at Cornell and middle aged. But he substituted for White two weeks and did such an excellent job he was practically drafted. Another star of The New Yorker recently decided to go gipsying and sailed for Europe to remain a year. He is James G. Thurber, who will contribute from his hide-away as the spirit moves.

Perhaps the wealthiest midget of his time is the 24-year-old, 50 pound John Roventi, page boy on a cigarette radio program and known to listeners as Johnny. Johnny was a bell hop in a New York hotel when a radio executive heard him paging and selected him for a new program. This was a little more than four years ago. Today Johnny has bought and furnished a home for his folks in Brooklyn, goes to a Fifth Avenue tailor for his clothes and rides to broadcasts in an especially built small car with a chauffeur. Since the collapse of vaudeville and the dwindling in circuses things have not been rosy for "the strange little people." Most have returned to Austria, where a large number were born. They are invariably proud and no matter how low their estate will not accept charity.

Thingumbobs: H. G. Wells keeps a dictionary in every room of his living quarters. The close friends of Jimmy Walker shorten it to "Jim." Prince Andrew of Greece wears his monocle surt bathing. Ward Morehouse has visited every city of 10,000 or more in the United States. Phil Simms was the first American newspaperman to sport a white-lined Inverness evening cape. John Golden has never attended the first night of one of his shows.

One of those Noisy Nuisances was loose in a quiet class A restaurant last night. She was just up from one of the Hamptons, tanned to a sepi and hell-bent to be heard and seen. First jabbering shrilly in French to the waiter captain so all could hear, then waving and hallooing across the room to this one and that and laughing in the upper register. We shouldn't let such didoes throw us, but we've reached the crochety age where they do.

The more abundant life: Ryley Cooper has discovered the most contented man in the world in Sebring, Fla. He is able to look through the Sears Roebuck catalog and not want a thing in it.

Memories: Pasting things in the scrap book with the white of an egg in lieu of the more modern library paste, and the pin-cushion in the china slipper.

THE STARS SAY:

For Friday, September 10

Events and developments of powerful effect on the life, its progress and prosperity, are forecast from the paramount influence of the major planets, both by lunar direction and mutual aspect. Enlarged opportunities for expansion and productivity, increased values and finances and enhanced power and popularity combine to make this a day of success.

If This Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is are assured a year of great and powerful influences and activities that may be marshalled to achieve a decisive advance upon the goal of very high ambitions. Definite initiative and energy, co-operation of powerful interests and increased capital and possessions unite to promote personal power, prestige and popularity, as well as provoke rivalry, enmity and competition.

A child born on this day may be excellently endowed with all the talents and factors that go to make high goals in progress, prosperity, popularity and power, as well as personal gratifications. But these gifts also evoke bitter rivalries, competition and enmities, both open and secret, public and private.

With six additional anonymous helpers, Mr. Roosevelt will have almost enough to invoke a mandate. —Pittsburgh Post-Gazette.

Ranks Thin at G. A. R. Convention

Reviving old memories

Fewer than 200 members of the Grand Army of the Republic answered the roll call when the annual convention went into session at Madison, Wis. Among those present were Alice Cary Risley, 83, of Columbia, Mo., only surviving Civil war nurse, and Capt. Eugene Merrick, right, of Los Angeles, Cal.

POISON IVY

SOME PERSONS are susceptible to the effects of poison ivy, while others rarely, if ever, suffer from this annoying inflammation of the skin. I know some persons who get the evil effects even if they do not actually touch the plant. They are so susceptible to this poisonous plant that particles in the air, or contact with tools, clothing or insects that have touched the poison ivy may be sufficient to cause an attack.

The victim of poison ivy complains of severe burning and itching of the skin. Any portion of the body may be involved, but as a rule the face and hands are most commonly affected. Small water blisters form which itch and on scratching and breaking may cause the irritation to spread to adjacent parts of the skin.

If contact has been made with the poisonous plant, it is best to take a warm bath and scrub the body with a strongly alkaline soap, kitchen or laundry soap, perhaps. Follow this with an alcohol sponge. If alcohol is not available, gasoline may be used. Of course, keep away from flames and take the necessary precautions because gasoline is extremely combustible.

Irritates Skin

But if this treatment fails to stop the poisonous effects, relief of the pain may be obtained by the use of calamine or zinc oxide lotions. These preparations cool and soothe the irritated skin.

Every one should be familiar with the plant. This is especially advised for those who are susceptible to poison ivy.

Children should be taught the difference between ivy and poison ivy. The poisonous plant is a climbing one, belonging to the sumac family. It has leaves arranged in groups of three, the middle one having a longer stem than the other two. The poison ivy, more commonly known as "Rhus toxicodendron," usually trails over the ground, rarely rising more than a few inches from the level of the ground. The leaves are thick and shiny.

Poisoning may also be caused by contact with "Rhus venenata," more commonly known as "poison sumac." It is more difficult to recognize than poison ivy. It has a compound leaf of many leaflets and can only be recognized by close scrutiny. The leaflets grow out from each side of the rib and give the appearance of a trough. This plant rarely grows on dry ground.

UNCLE ABNER SAYS:

Aunt Sarah Peabody says a picket in a fence is worth half a dozen on the sidewalk.

Some wimmen air their views while viewin' other wimmen's airs.

being found usually in swampy lands.

It is annoying to human beings, producing severe inflammation of the skin. All these plants are to be avoided.

Answers to Health Queries
E. M. L. Q.—I am a girl 18 years of age and am overweight. All my friends tell me how fat I am getting, and I would feel much better if I could lose some weight. Is there anything in a tablet form I could take to reduce?

HAPPY RELIEF FROM PAINFUL BACKACHE

Caused by Tired Kidneys

Many of those gnawing, nagging, painful backaches people blame on colds or strains are often caused by tired kidneys—and may be relieved when treated in the right way.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. Most people pass about 3 pints a day or about 3 pounds of waste.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. Three poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, lumbago, loss of pep and energy, getting up at night, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

False Arrest Suit Dismissed by Judge

LISBON, Sept. 9.—A $5,000 suit charging Bertha and K. B. Lyder, living near East Fairfield, with false arrest was dismissed Wednesday at the defendant's cost by Common Pleas Judge W. F. Lones. The suit was filed by Frank Hahn who charged the Lyders with falsely accusing him of breaking and entering. The warrant, according to the petition, was secured Feb. 10, 1936, in Justice M. K. Zimmerman's court. At the hearing Hahn says the defendants gave false testimony against him.

Identify Body

WHEELING, W. Va., Sept. 8.—The body of a woman, found in the Ohio river Monday, was identified today by William Hoge, Wheeling steel worker, as that of his wife, Mrs. Jessie Bunfield Hoge, 50, of Coshocton, O. Hoge said he and his son, also employed in a Wheeling mill, were unaware that Mrs. Hoge had come to Wheeling from Coshocton where the rest of the family lives.

CCC Registration

LISBON, Sept. 9.—Former CCC enrollees in this community may re-enroll for another term at the end of six months from their date of discharge instead of one year as heretofore, it was announced by the county selecting agent, Mrs. Rose McGuckin, 1612 Clark st., Wellsville.

Hope in Infantile Battle

Whether or not science has at last found an effective preventive against infantile paralysis in the zinc sulphate nasal spray, will be known when the results of the first large scale test of the spray are tabulated at Preston Springs, Ontario, Canada. Dr. John Hauch of the Hagmeier Clinic is shown administering a dose to one of the 5,000 children who were treated in an effort to stem the mounting outbreak of the dread disease in the province.

LEETONIA

BOWLING SEASON --- OPENS --- TOMORROW NIGHT

THE AMERICAN BOWLING CONGRESS CREED:

We have no apologies to make for being devoted to the American Bowling Congress and the great game of American Tenpins which it regulates and controls. The majority of sport loving people who crave the delight of actual participation together with an admixture of friendly rivalry have adopted the game of Tenpins because they find it affords a means of obtaining mental relaxation, nicely balanced with mild physical exercise.

Why should we not be proud of the American Bowling Congress? It has created law and supervises all bowling activities. It has made athletic history. The game of Tenpins has been adopted as the best means of recreation by all welfare organizations of both huge and small corporations. It has gained the respect of the public.

Leaders of industry have adopted Tenpins as an outlet for pent-up athletic enthusiasm. It is a game that does not incapacitate their employees, neither does it cost fabulous sums to maintain. It enables industrial and other institutions to obtain the co-operation and good will of their employees.

Bowling is an honest game and those who are affiliated with the American Bowling Congress have helped to make it so. We have eradicated the gambling evil from our ranks, and are gratified that we represent the most upright game in American sports history.

We are proud of our achievements. We want all bowlers to share our pride, and if you are not one of us, we ask you to join the greatest and finest sports organization in the world.

THE AMERICAN BOWLING CONGRESS

We believe that the American Bowling Congress has been the means of putting bowling on the high level it has attained today.

We honestly recommend that all Teams and Leagues join this great organization, the cost is small and the benefits derived are many.

NOTICE, Tenpin Bowlers

You do not have to guarantee the amount of five men each night, whether they bowl or not. If only four men bowl, you pay only for four men, etc. Any team that bowls in the Grate Leagues and bowls the whole season will be donated at the end of the season $5.00 a team by us toward team expenses for banquets or prizes.

NOTICE, Bowlers . . .

We also furnish Foul Line Man at alleys during match games at no expense. We have found that anyone bowling under A. B. C. regulations who qualifies for a medal by bowling a high score, would not receive recognition if there was not a man on the foul line. For that reason we will have a man on the foul line at all times. No bowler wants to roll a perfect game and then find that he was disqualified because of an oversight.

Young Mothers Club Plans Study Course For Season

The recently organized young mothers club of the city, the Progressive Mothers circle of the Child Conservation League of America, held a meeting last evening at the home of Mrs. Michael Schuller, New Garden st.

Questions which will be considered in the course of study include: "What is parent education?" "Can parents educate each other?" "What are your aims for your children?" "Have you a definite plan in mind for training them?" "Are you reasonably sure of your line of action in difficult situations?"

Missionary Gives Interesting Talk

Mrs. Andrew T. Roy, missionary from Nanking, China on furlough here, was speaker during the meeting of the Women's Missionary society Wednesday afternoon in the Presbyterian church.

Mrs. Roy, wife of Rev. Andrew Roy, nephew of the late Mrs. W. L. Crofts, spoke interestingly of the work of the church in China, showing moving pictures of the district in which she and Rev. Roy were stationed.

Mrs. O. C. Juergens led devotions. Miss Frances May Vincent entertained with two cornet selections, accompanied at the piano by Miss Barbara Morey.

A paper "The Younger Generation" was read by Mrs. Carrie Smith, followed by two songs by Gene and Glenn Weingart. Their numbers were "In the Garden" and two verses of Brahms' "Lullaby," one in German and the other in English. They are sons of Mr. and Mrs. Rolland E. Weingart. They were accompanied by Mrs. Esther Odoran.

Sixty Present At Rish Reunion

The 15th annual reunion of the Rish family was held recently at Silver park, Alliance, with 60 relatives present from Kenton, Forest, Toledo, Salem, North Georgetown, Lisbon, Hanoverton and Bayard.

A picnic dinner was enjoyed at noon and a short program and the business session followed.

New officers are: President, Mrs. Emma Rish Laughy of Forest; Vice president, John Robertson of Forest; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Nettie Rose of Kenton; sports and program committee, Mr. and Mrs. Forest Woolley of Kenton; membership committee, Mrs. Nettie Rose and Mrs. Lydia Frantz of Alliance.

Next year's reunion will be held the Sunday before Labor day at Forest.

Program Enjoyed By Homemakers

A delightful program of readings, entertainment and general discussions was enjoyed by Vernal Grove Homemakers club members yesterday afternoon when they were guests of Mrs. Milton Crawford, near the Winona rd.

Mrs. A. U. Patten gave an interesting account of a recent trip to Canada, Thousand Islands and through the New England states. Mr. and Mrs. Patten, who returned home about a week ago, were accompanied on the 2,000-mile trip by Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Hampton of Ashtabula.

The club will be entertained Oct. 13 at the home of Mrs. Marion Bowers, Winona.

Junior Mission Society Meets

Members of the Junior Missionary society of the First Friends church made plans for the winter program during a session Wednesday afternoon in the church. Meetings throughout the winter months will be held every two weeks on Saturday afternoon.

The girls worked on a baby comfort which will be sent to the church mission station in Virginia when it is completed. Games and contests were enjoyed during the social hour.

The group will meet again Sept. 25 at the church.

Lutheran Society Plans Meeting

Women's Missionary society of Holy Trinity English Lutheran church will hold its regular meeting at 7:30 p. m. Friday in the church, with Mrs. Park Newhouse as leader. All members are asked to attend.

Cancel Reunion

The annual reunion of the Beech Brook children's home, Chagrin Falls, has been postponed by officials until a later date, due to the outbreak of infantile paralysis in that vicinity.

Miss Katey Rich of E. Fifth st., returned home Tuesday from a month's visit in Buckhannon, W. Va. During the visit she enjoyed a motor trip to Washington, D. C., through the Shenandoah Valley on the Skyline drive, Seneca Rocks and Blackwater Falls, W. Va.

Mr. and Mrs. John Biziak, son, Jimmie and Miss Miltz Schuster returned recently from a week's motor trip to Linville Falls, N. C., Erwin, Tenn., and Natural Tunnel, Va., and other points of interest. Mrs. Biziak was a former resident of Erwin.

Mrs. Elbert Vincent and daughters, Marguerite, Alice Ruth and Mary Louise have returned from four weeks visit in Charlevoix, Mich. Mr. Vincent has spent the last two weeks there.

Mr. and Mrs. Harrison Geer and son, Chester of New Kensington, Pa., were guests yesterday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Kiecher, Franklin st.

Cupid's Aim Poor Among Movie Celebrities

Buddy Westmore and Martha Raye

June Lang and Vic Orsatti

George Brent and Constance Worth

Dan Cupid's aim has been notoriously poor as respects Hollywood of late. Several much-heralded romances and much-publicized weddings have gone on the rocks. After being wedded less than a month, beauteous June Lang separated from her husband, Vic Orsatti, Martha Raye and Buddy Westmore aired their troubles in court after a brief marital life. George Brent and Constance

Worth also split, the former suing for annulment of their recent marriage. And Judy Canova of radio fame is reported to have broken with Edgar Bergeh, the ventriloquist. All of which suggests that too much money and the difficulty of combining a career and domesticity often make Cupid's lot in the film colony a difficult one and account for the high mortality rate of romances.

Salem Man Weds Greenford Girl

The marriage of Miss Bertha Calvin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Calvin, Greenford, to George Gottschling, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. George Gottschling of Salem, was solemnized in the home of Rev. E. L. Greer, Lisbon, Saturday morning on the 24th wedding anniversary of the bride's parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Holloway, Salem, were attendants. The bride was lovely in a gown of mahogany crepe with black accessories. She wore a corsage of gardenias. Mrs. Holloway wore blue crepe and a corsage of gardenias.

The bride is a graduate of Greenford High school. Mr. Gottschling was graduated from Salem High school and attended Akron university. He is employed at the Millins plant.

The couple left for Niagara Falls and Canada.

Today's Pattern

LOOK CHIC Pattern 4455

Take Anne Adams' word for it—you'll never find a more flattering frock anywhere than Pattern 4455! Guaranteed to bring out all your best points, and minimize your figure faults, this "charmer" is as slenderizing as can be, and so easy to cut, fit and stitch that you'll be sure to want to make up several versions. Becoming to every type are the dainty puffed sleeves (may be flared if you prefer), shoulder yokes, and popular V-neckline that's enhanced by a soft collar and very feminine bow. And you're sure to approve of that gracefully flared skirt. Ideal in satin-back crepe, foulard or novelty synthetic.

Pattern 4455 is available in women's sizes 24, 26, 28, 30, 32, 34, 36 and 38. Size 24 takes 4½ yards 39 inch fabric. Illustrated step-by-step sewing instructions included. Send FIFTEEN CENTS (15c) in coins or stamps (coins preferred) for this Anne Adams pattern. Write plainly SIZE, NAME, ADDRESS and STYLE NUMBER.

Our NEW Fall and Winter ANNE ADAMS PATTERN BOOK just off the press! Order at once! Salem Grange Hall Scene of Picnic

The Women's Purify picnic was held yesterday at Salem grange hall, attended by women of the rural district in the vicinity of Salem and Mount Nebo granges.

New officers elected for the picnic next year are: President, Mrs. Harvey Shive; vice president, Mrs. D. W. Astory; secretary, Mrs. Richard Hoopes; treasurer, Mrs. Willis McArthur.

The 1938 picnic will be held at the grange hall the first Wednesday after Labor day.

A dinner was enjoyed at noon, followed by games and contests. Prize winners for the entertainment were Mrs. Hannah Baker, Mrs. Ed Grubbs and Mrs. McArthur.

Marriage Licenses

William J. Dearth and Virginia L. Travis of East Liverpool, and Harry Kannal, New Waterford, and Lois Blair of East Palestine, have been granted marriage licenses at Lisbon.

Mr. and Mrs. Jess Bard of Liberty st., have returned from a visit with his sister, Mrs. William Nickolson and family at Marion, Ind. Points of interest in Indiana also were visited.

Finally Talks

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 8.—Henry Cook wasn't so dumb—or, for that matter, deaf.

County Detective Samuel Graham, who arrested him on a charge of peddling without a license, said Cook posed as a mute to increase sales of razor blades and shoe strings. Left in a cell for several hours, he startled attendants by shouting:

"Bring me a drink of water."

YOU CAN THROW CARDS IN HIS FACE ONCE TOO OFTEN

WHEN you have those awful cramps when your nerves are all on edge—don't take it out on the man you love.

Your husband can't possibly know how you feel for the simple reason that he is a man.

A three-quarter wife may be no wife at all if she nags her husband, seven days out of every month.

For three generations one woman has told another how to go "smiling through" with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It helps Nature tone up the system, thus lessening the discomforts from the functional disorders which women must endure in the three ordeals of life: 1. Turning from girlhood to womanhood. 2. Preparing for motherhood. 3. Approaching "middle age."

Don't be a three-quarter wife, take LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND and Go "Smiling Through."

LEGION FAIR AT COLUMBIANA

52nd Annual Attraction Opens Tonight On Village Streets

COLUMBIANA, Sept. 9.—The annual Columbiana street fair gets under way tonight. Concessions, shows, rides, and other amusements are here, and the night attendance for the three evenings is expected to be large.

The exhibits in the various classes are housed in a large tent which was erected Wednesday on the public square. The exhibit entries are to be made at the tent Friday. R. M. Beck is premium chairman.

The Columbiana American Legion band will furnish music on Friday and Saturday evenings and on Saturday afternoon.

The fair is sponsored by Benjamin Firestone post, American Legion Post Commander A. M. McLaughlin, Jr., is the fair manager, with W. J. Eaton as his assistant.

Class Hostesses
Mrs. George White and Mrs. Elba Wilhelm were hostesses to members of the Young Ladies Bible class of the Presbyterian Sunday school Tuesday evening at the home of the former, with 21 members and one guest, Mrs. Lee Book-walter, present.

Mrs. R. G. Oakes presided and devotionals were led by Mrs. Alfred Barrow. Roll call was responded to by giving current events. The program included moving pictures shown by Mrs. C. W. Dewalt and Mrs. Ruth Lehman. The next meeting will be a cover dish party at the church.

Club will Convene
Opening the fall season, the Columbiana Mothers' club will be entertained Monday evening at the home of Mrs. E. C. Basinger.

The following program will be presented: roll call, "My Favorite Radio Program," paper, "A United Front On Children's Radio Programs," Mrs. C. B. Riggle; paper, "My Boy Paul," Mrs. Richard Orr. The new officers are: President, Mrs. Willard Vaughn; vice president, Mrs. R. M. Gaver; secretary, Mrs. Gaylord Zellers.

Surprise Party
Honoring the birthday anniversary of her twin sister, Mrs. R. D. Pavey of Columbus, Mrs. R. J. Esterly entertained a group of friends at a surprise party at Valley Golf club Wednesday evening.

Cards were played at three tables, after which lunch was served at a birthday cake and garden flowers. Pink nut cups marked places for twelve. Mrs. Pavey was presented a handkerchief shower. Miss Charlotte Moelchert, Columbus, a guest in the Esterly home, also shared honors and was given a gift.

Cops Free After Kidnaping by Gunman

A desperado, believed to be Clyde Derrick, held two Johnson City, N. Y., policemen captive for twelve hours, then released them, after taking their police car and enough armament to make the auto a motorized armory. Pictured are the two policemen, their wives, and the mayor of Johnson City. Left to right, Patrick Cunningham and his wife; Mayor Benjamin W. Ash, and Harry Pettit and his wife. An intensive man-hunt is being pursued in two states for the desperado.

not what they do."
He spoke then of the democracies
which, he said, persisted in "debating themselves" that the "Spanish insurgency was a bid for power
by reactionary generals.

Work of Moscow
That idea, he said, is the
"devilish" work of Moscow, and
"nations which close their eyes to this menace will some day suffer a terrible awakening."

The propaganda minister reached a crescendo of vituperation when he described Bolshevism as a horrible cancer, "eating its way into the healthy flesh of nations."
"Our warmest sympathies are with General Franco," he said, but he added it was absurd for anyone to think that Germany was trying to Nazify Spain or seize Spanish territory through her support of the insurgent dictator
there.

Goebbels spared his listeners
none of the bloody details of what he said went on in government Spain. He told a lurid story of murder, rape, the despoiling of churches and the killing of hostages.
"In view of these facts," he said,
"it is perfectly incomprehensible that some church authorities should take red Spain's side."

"All this might have happened with us except for Adolf Hitler."
"The Spanish trouble was planned by Moscow, fomented by Moscow and organized by Moscow. Today it is conducted by Moscow.
Moscow would have succeeded in its foul design but for one man's heroic energy."

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rain! to Go
The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest.
It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You get constipated. Your whole system is poisoned and you feel sour,
sunk and the world looks punk.
Laxatives are only makeshifts. A mere bowel movement doesn't get at the cause. It takes these good, old Carter's Little Liver

FASCISTS NOT AT CONFERENCE

Italy, Germany Draft Notes; Soviet Accusations Ignored

of an affirmative sense until the incident created by the Soviet note shall have been satisfactorily settled.

The Soviet note, directed to Italy, protested and demanded redress for the "Italian submarine attacks." Italy brusquely rejected it and the Soviet Union immediately pressed its charges in a second communication, which Italy has ignored.

If the Mediterranean piracy matter is taken before the non-intervention committee, Italy said, it should "avoid the convocation of a new and special conference."

It also would have the advantage of "not excluding any one of the great European powers and other powers directly interested, thus permitting particularly the participation of Poland and Portugal."

The Italo-German rejection was a blow to British and French hopes for a peaceful solution of the crisis which grew out of the Spanish civil war.

It was a slap at Soviet Russia. Moscow had accused Italy of torpedoing two Soviet freighters in the eastern Mediterranean. The charge threatened a diplomatic breach between Russia and Italy.

But, regardless of this, British officials declared:

"We want action and we mean to get it!"

Roscoe, champ chimp of the Steel Pier Zoo in Atlantic City, N. J., became unexpectedly fed up with his brother and sister chimps. He even lost interest in the funny people who kept staring at him all day long. So a wise attendant sent Felix, the kitten, into the cage. They're pals now, and everybody's happy.

Theater Attractions

"The Toast of New York", a romantic drama based on a period of American history, is the attraction booked for Friday and Saturday at the State theater.

Josie Mansfield, a fascinating beauty of the post-Civil War period, is torn between her loyalty to Jim Fisk, picturesque railroad baron, who promotes her first big stage opportunity, and her love for Fisk's best friend and business partner.

Josie is played by Frances Farmer and is co-starred with Edward Arnold, Cary Grant and Jack Oakie.

A glittering chapter of American history is unfolded in this photoplay. Arnold portrays Jim Fisk, one of the most colorful figures in the gaudy age when the American dollar found itself and burst its swaddling clothes.

During the war Fisk procured cotton from the south for northern markets, making a fortune out of his deals. Later he became one of the most powerful figures on Wall Street and one of the leading lights in the development of the Erie railroad.

Fisk's adoration of Josie Mansfield, remembered as one of the most alluring women in American annals, was equally as flamboyant as his business career. He lavished a fortune on the bewitching young woman, who sought fame in the theatre.

As Josie Mansfield, Miss Farmer, who soared to stardom within the last year, plays her second role opposite Edward Arnold, the first having been in "Come and Get It."

Tonight's Attraction
Kenny Baker, whose voice has entertained radio listeners for several years, appears in his first starring screen role in "Mr. Dodd Takes the Air" which concludes tonight at the State.

Jane Wyman, Frank McHugh and Alice Brady have prominent roles in the story of a small-town boy blessed with a glorious voice who makes the grade in radio, reaches the top and returns to the bottom a much wiser boy. Alice Brady as the temperamental, much-married prima donna, Gertrude

Recluse Sleeps For Almost Year With Corpse of Husband

(By Associated Press)
NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—A 65-year-old recluse who, police said, told them she had slept for nearly a year with the corpse of her husband, was held for observation today in Bellevue hospital.

"I was waiting for him to get up," said Mrs. Emily Cudas. She refused to believe her husband, Frank Cudas, was dead.

Police found in her possession a death certificate dated October 26, 1936, and asked why she had not buried her husband.

"I was told that I could keep him for a year," she replied, "and it is not a year yet."

The body of Cudas was found on a bed in their tiny two-room apartment by Patrolman Edward Goehner, after an investigator for the old age pension bureau was denied permission to see Cudas on the plea that he was "in a coma."

Later, still refusing to believe he had died, Mrs. Cudas said she thought he was suffering from sleeping sickness.

Cudas apparently had died after he had heard the old woman carry on animated conversations, apparently with her husband. She admitted no one to the apartment.

Mrs. Cudas insisted on taking her purse with her to the hospital. It contained, police said, an uncashed $1,500 life insurance policy on her husband, a bank book showing deposits of $300 and $28 in cash.

BUMPER CORN CROP MISSING

Late Drouth ruins Chance of Record Number of Bushels

75,000,000 bushels, less than half the amount farmers had expected, was estimated today.

Iowa Is Corn State
Iowa was expected to regain its position as the principal corn producing state this year. It was only a runnerup to Illinois in 1936 when drouth and heat combined to burn up much of the Hawkeye state's crop.

Despite damage caused by heat and smut, Iowa yield estimates were around 460,000,000 bushels, more than double the production of last year.

Illinois, with an estimated yield of close to 398,000,000 bushels, will rank second in production this year. The crop, however, suffered for want of moisture and examination of maturing ears show lack of uniform development. The Missouri crop also suffered severe damage and is now estimated at approximately 135,000,000 bushels.

Indiana, Michigan and Minnesota had rainfall during the period when ears were filling and prospects in these states have improved in recent weeks.

The Ohio crop suffered little, if any, in recent weeks and the crop was estimated at more than 153,000,000 bushels.

RICKEY TALKS OF RETIRING THE GREAT DIZZY

Schroeder Seeks Eleven Good Blockers And Tacklers For First String Lineup

SHELVING DEAN WOULD NOT AID CARDS' CHANCES

Dizzy Far From Needing Wheel chair In Hurling 5-Hit Ball

By SID FEDER
The St. Louis Cardinals looked very much today as if they were sharpening up a knife for the purpose of cutting off their collective nose to spite their equally collective face.

If they were really serious about suggesting a year's retirement for Dizzy Dean, and were not just talking to throw a scare into baseball's No. 1 blower-offer, it would seem they'd be doing themselves more harm than good by shelving the greatest pitching arm in the business for that length of time, despite his eccentricities.

The row started by Branch Rickey with the retirement suggestion, and followed up by Dean's plain-plea for permission to trade himself, took the stage away from anything in the big time today. Playing second fiddle to the "Rickey-Dean brasses" were such other developments as the re-appointment of "Boiling Bolly" Grimes as chief umpire batter and manager of the Brooklyn Dodgers; the continuation of the Giants' 2½-game lead in the National league race; and the rise of Pittsburgh to third place in the National league and Cleveland to fourth in the American.

The Cards may have their reasons for talking about packing Dizzy's arm in mothballs for a year. These would include, of course, the fact that such a move would, as Rickey described it, "act as a tonic and build up his baseball morale as well as his arm." But certainly didn't look ready for a wheel-chair yesterday as he pitched a five-hitter against Cubs. Although he lost, 4-0, a five-hitter isn't exactly getting your ears pinned back.

The victory for the Cubs enabled them to stay within shouting distance of the Giants, who had their hands full here pulling out a 9-7 decision over their best-loved "haters," the Dodgers. A short while later, the Brooklyn management announced the signing of Grimes at a reported substantial salary increase.

The Yanks pulled two games out of the fire against the Red Sox, 3-2 and 4-0.

The Tigers managed only an even tie with the Indians, taking the nightcap, 10-5, after dropping the curtain raiser, 6-1. The Pirates pounded the Reds 7-6 in ten frames and 8-2 in nine.

Four well-pitched games found the Phillies splitting with the Bees and the Athletics doing the same with the Senators. The Phils won 6-3 and lost 1-0. The A's won 2-0 and then went down 1-0. The White Sox socked the Browns, 10-1.

"If That's The Way They Feel About Me They'd Better Let Me Go" Says Dizzy

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 9.—Branch Rickey started it—now Jerome Herman Dean wants to finish it.

And when the Dizzy one says finish, he refers to his connections with Messrs. Breardon and Rickey's Gas House Gang.

A suggestion here last night by the Cardinals' general manager that old Diz take a year off "as a tonic" and "build up his baseball morale" temporarily nonplussed Dean when he heard about it in Chicago.

"If that's the way they feel about me it would be better if they let me go," he countered. "I think three or four clubs could use me."

Will Be O. K.
"I may not be doing so good now but I'll be O. K. by next season and I can't see any reason for laying off a year."

Rickey said he made the suggestion in view of the big right-hander's record for the season. Diz dropped No. 10 to the Cubs yesterday after a lay-off since August 26 because of his ailing flipper. He has won 13 games.

Diz was more voluble than his boss but showed unusual restraint in commenting on Rickey's opinion that voluntary retirement would be "the best thing that could happen to Dizzy."

Rickey added "he's not in the market; there's no market for him."

SALEM BOWLING ESTABLISHMENTS READY TO OPEN

Grate and Masonic Alleys Open For Season Tomorrow

Offering bowlers of Salem and vicinity a chance to get in several days of practice before league competition begins, the Grate Recreation and Masonic temple bowling alleys will open for the 1937-38 season tomorrow.

League matches are not scheduled to start until Monday, Sept. 20 and so bowlers will have eight days, not including Sundays, to toss the mineralites down the alleys and get in shape for league seasons.

Both the Masonic and Grate alleys have undergone improvements for the opening of the season and are reported to be in good shape. Ralph Gregg has been hired by E. L. Grate as new manager of the Grate alleys, while Joe Reese will continue as manager of the Masonic alleys.

Mayor George Harroff and Chief of Police Ralph Stoffer will officially open the Grate alleys for the new season in their annual trophy match at 6:30 p. m. tomorrow.

The mayor now has the trophy presented by E. L. Grate to the winner of the match in his possession, but the chief is confident that the emblem of victory will decorate his desk for the next year.

Harroff won the trophy by defeating Stoffer in their match at the opening of the bowling season last year.

Meetings have been planned for the first of next week for organization of leagues for the season. At the Masonic temple Monday, teams seeking entrance into the Class A National league will meet at 7 p. m., while Class B teams, including those from last season's American league, will meet at 8 p. m.

At the Grate Recreation alleys Tuesday, meetings will be held at 7 p. m. and 8 p. m. Teams from last year's Commercial league are expected to attend the 7 o'clock meeting, while teams from the Pastime and Quaker City leagues of last season will be represented at the 8 o'clock meeting.

The meetings at both bowling establishments are not exclusively for teams which bowled in leagues last season. Representatives of new teams and new bowlers are welcome to attend.

The new teams and bowlers, however, are first urged to notify the Salem Bowling association of their desire to get into league competition. A bowling entry blank for this purpose is published on the sport page of The News today.

Officials of the bowling association look for six and possibly seven men's leagues to be in action in Salem during the season, setting a new high for league bowling in the city.

The Masonic Ladies Bowling league got a jump in organization on men's leagues last night when it held its first meeting at the Masonic temple.

Although eight teams will be affiliated with the circuit during the season, only six teams were represented at the meeting, which was presided over by Mrs. Paul Covert and Miss Esther Mohr, president and secretary, respectively.

Plans were made to open the season Wednesday, Sept. 22 at the temple alleys.

Teams affiliated with the league are the American Automobile Association, last season's champion; Elks No. 1; Elks No. 2; Mullins; Ohio Edison; Electric Furnace; Kresge's and the Salem News.

The Electric Furnace is a new entry in the league this season, replacing the Salem China.

It was decided at the meeting to levy a fine of five cents on bowlers who report late for matches.

Try the classifieds—a gold mine of value.

BOWLING ENTRY BLANK

I would like to enter a team () or individual () in Class A () or Class B () league to bowl at the alleys.

I will be at the league meeting. Masonic leagues, Sept. 13—Class A, 7 p. m.; Class B, 8 p. m. Grate Leagues, Sept. 14-7 and 8 p. m.

"All the time for the last seven years when I was winning games and winning world's series, I was a great guy and everything was okay. Now, when I ain't goin' so good, everything's wrong with me."

Blames Toe
Dean blamed his poor record recently on that left big toe broken in the All-Star game.

He described his 1 to 0 victory at Cincinnati July 4 as "one of the best games I ever pitched," adding "I was on the way to my best season."

"Two days later my left toe was broke. Ten days later I was requested to report to the club at Boston, which I did."

"Frisch (Manager Frank Frisch) asked me if I could pitch when I showed up. I did. 'I gave him a pretty good game but lost 2 to 1. The toe was not healed and I couldn't pivot for my follow through and I hurt my arm favoring my toe.'"

Concerning his 4 to 0 loss to the Cubs yesterday, Dizzy said he "never should have been in there," though Rickey credited him with "a good game."

Among the players whom Schroeder considers his best bet for varsity material to date, because of their blocking and tackling ability, are Bud Dean, Joe Vendor, Mike Cerbu, Bill Malloy and Oliver Olexa.

Dean, a 156-pound backfield candidate, who came to Salem last winter from Cleveland Collingwood, is classed by Schroeder as one of his best blockers and tacklers. He also appears to be one of the leading ball-carriers.

Vendor is a scrappy 162-pound sophomore, whose smashing type of play and hard work in practice makes him a leading candidate for one of the guard positions.

Cerbu, a center, and Malloy and Olexa, backs, are lettermen who displayed good blocking and tackling ability last season and who have shown improvement in this department of the game in practice thus far this season.

Schroeder intends to pick his varsity squad of 28 players tomorrow, then send the remaining gridders down to the junior varsity, which will be coached by Frank Gordon, former Wittenberg college grid star and All-Ohio choice, who has been hired as a teacher in Junior High school.

Gordon was on hand for practice yesterday as was Ted Jones, new assistant coach who comes to Salem from Millersburg where he was gridiron mentor for seven years.

Schroeder's plan for a varsity squad is something new to Salem High school football. The 28 players who compose the varsity squad will practice under Schroeder and Jones and will be separated from the junior varsity, which will have its own schedule of games.

Eighth graders from Junior High and freshmen and sophomores from High school are expected to be in the majority on the junior varsity. Although originally scheduled for two practices yesterday, the Quaker gridders held only a morning drill because of afternoon meetings for teachers and students at the High school.

With the opening of school today, the gridders swing into a practice schedule of one workout each school day after noon until the end of the season.

Then Bill Bath of East Liverpool, scheduled to step into the first-string job this season, was killed Saturday in an automobile accident. Yesterday Jim Strasbaugh, Chillicothe sophomore who led Ohio's scholastic scorers two years ago, chopped out with the same trouble Williams had. He failed to hurdle from the few summer school requirements.

That leaves only Jim Miller of Shelby and Bob Moloney of Columbus to fit into the all-important berth—and right now the berth looks a bit too big for a comfortable fit.

"It looked as if we were pretty well set, except for a bit of fixing here and there," said Schmidt. "But now we'll have to start all over again in building a backfield. 'I don't know just what the changes will be until we get out there on the field and get a chance to watch some of the boys perform.'"

Yesterday's STARS

JOHNNY ALLEN, Indians, and GEORGE COFFMAN and HANK GREENBERG, Tigers—Allen pitched seven-hitter, fanning six, for 6-1 opener victory; Coffman allowed one hit in four-inning relief trick in nightcap as Greenberg's two homers led to 10-5 victory.

WOODY JENSEN and JIM TOBIN, Pirates—Jensen hit four-for-five, driving in one run, in 7-6 opener over Reds; Tobin's four-hit, four-strikeout pitching took nightcap, 8-2.

VERNON KENNEDY, White Sox—Stopped Browns 10-1 with six hits.

PHILADELPHIA—Lorenzo Pack, 208½, Detroit, knocked out Bomber Dean, 188, Newark, N. J. (4).

BUD DEAN RANKS AS ONE OF BEST GRID PROSPECTS

Joe Vendor Likely Candidate For Guard Position

Eleven good blockers and tacklers.

That's what Coach Carl Schroeder is searching for as he pushes his Salem High school football candidates through pre-season practice out at Centennial park in preparation for the Quakers' opening game against Sebring at Reilly stadium, Friday night, Sept. 24.

The gridders started their second week of pre-season drill today and Schroeder was especially emphatic in declaring that the eleven best blockers and tacklers on the squad will be chosen for starting berths in the opening game.

Nine members of the squad, including eleven lettermen from last year's team, has at present been definitely slated for a first string position, although several of the gridders have shown ability which Schroeder believes makes them deserving of a varsity berth.

Among the players whom Schroeder considers his best bet for varsity material to date, because of their blocking and tackling ability, are Bud Dean, Joe Vendor, Mike Cerbu, Bill Malloy and Oliver Olexa.

Dorothy Bundy Is Product Of Mother's Net Coaching

Upset Winner Over No. 1 Ranked Alice Marble Learned Her Tennis From Champions

By GAYLE TALBOT

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Sept. 9.—For today, at least, there is a new star twinkling in the American tennis firmament—Chubby, honey-colored Dorothy "Dodo" Bundy of Santa Monica, Calif.

There is some reason to fear that Dorothy's light may be extinguished when she encounters Anita Lizana, the slick little senorita from Chile, in the semi-finals of the national championships tomorrow, but her upset victory over Champion Alice Marble yesterday may gain her No. 1 ranking.

"Dodo," the daughter of two champions, Tom and May Sutton Bundy, and first cousin of another, Johnny Doeg, has arrived, as she proved yesterday when she fought off a match point in the second set and went on to win like a thoroughbred.

In the men's division Gottfried Von Cramm and Bobby Riggs got scared silly before they pulled through to the semi-finals. The German star was two-one down in sets to Bryan Grant, Jr., of Atlanta before he finally set to work and took his diminutive rival apart. Bobby Riggs dropped the first two sets of his match with angular Charlie Hare of England but his staying qualities and all around stroking equipment enabled him to take the next three. Anita Lizana scarcely drew a deep breath in trimming Mrs. Marjorie Van Ryn.

The semi-final bracket was due to be completed in four more matches today, two in each division. Don Budge met Joe Hunt, national junior champion, and Frankie Parker faced Johnny Van Ryn. Helen Jacobs and Jwdiga Jedrejowska, respectively, were expected to dispose of the last of the British delegation, Kay Stammers and Mary Hardwick.

Pottery Awards Softball Prizes

Manager Fred Schaffer of the Salem China softball team of the Class A City league announced today that George Morris had been awarded a set of dishes for leading the Pottery team in hitting during the 1937 season. Morris' batting average was .421.

Dale Ritchie also received a set of dishes for scoring the most runs, 17. Earl May also scored 17 runs during the season, but did not participate in two-thirds of the Pottery team's games.

Other leading scorers on the team were Charles Huffer, 13; Clete Krepps, 12; Charles Forney, 12; Steve Zatkio, 11; Risty Krepps, 11, and Joe Kasso, 10.

Wetzel Announces Sale of Players

SPRINGFIELD, Sept. 9.—President "Buzz" Wetzel of the Springfield Mid-Atlantic league club announced today sale of two players to Wilkes-Barre, Pa., and three to New Orleans for undisclosed sums.

First Baseman Walter Walsh, 22, hitting .329 with 33 homers, and Outfielder William Fuchs, 20, hitting .305 with 14 homers, went to the New York-Penn league team, Shortstop Frank Scalzi, 22, batting .389 with 33 home runs; Pitcher Mike Foley, 21, with 18 wins in 26 starts, and Catcher Gus Hixson, also 21, batting .296 with eight homers, were sent to the Southern association club.

Invading the Lake Placidia diamond for the third time of the season, the Akron Curtis Coals colored team will meet the Lakers at 2:30 p. m. Sunday.

Placidia conquered the Coals in both of the previous games, winning the first tilt, 3 to 2, and the second, 8 to 7.

Moore Avery, former pitching star of the Homeworth Greys, is scheduled to work on the mound for the Akron nine. Willis Schopfer will probably oppose him for Placidia.

"THE CAPTIVE BRIDE"

by BARRETT WILLOUGHBY

CHAPTER XLI

Denny climbed into Bourne's sled and was trying to arrange the robes about her, when he came from the cabin with two whisky bottles, filled with hot water. "One for your little feet, Denny, and the other to hold in your lap," he said. "There." He proceeded to tuck her into the furs with gentle expertness. This unexpected act of kindness was almost her undoing. "You darned weavling!" she scolded herself, gritting her teeth to keep from bursting into tears. "If you dare let him see you cry! But when they were under way and she was relieved of the necessity for keeping up an appearance, her body under the warm robes shook uncontrollably with her silent weeping.

She brushed the tears away and determinedly kept her eyes on the dim shapes of the dogs, trotting ahead in the moonlight. Their tails waved rhythmically; snow crystals sprayed from their padding feet. Bourne, behind her at the handlebar of the sled, was singing to them in a low, carrying tone.

Warmth, soothing and relaxing, crept over Denny; a feeling of being safe and cared for as she was drawn through a shadowy white world. Presently, with the suddenness of exhaustion, she fell into a heavy sleep.

She awoke, hours later, to find the sun in her eyes. "You woke up just in time, Denny," she was still so drowsy, with sleep that she failed to note the relief in Bourne's voice coming from back of the sled. "We're nearly home. See—there's the roof of Lonestar. That's Derek and Harp ahead of us. Honey-Jo got worried about your going off with Stebbins and sent them out to look for you. But—I've made everything all right with them."

Through her drowsiness she heard him and settled back among the robes. Then, into her sleep-numbed brain leaped a thought that shocked her into sudden mental clarity. That note she had written so confidently and placed under Bourne's pillow! The silly, boasting note of a run-away wife—whom he had so easily brought home again! She would die with humiliation if he read that now. Somehow, some way, she must get it back before he found it.

At the front gate of River House she hastily climbed from the sled, intending to run into the house and up the stairs. But at the door she found herself in the capacious embrace of Honey-Jo. "Thank the Lord you're safe, lamb!" the housekeeper cried. "I've been worried sick ever since I read your note. My dear child! Didn't you know Stebbins is the only man in this country who hates Revelry Bourne? Years ago, that squaw-pirate poisoned Rev's dog; and when the skipper grew big enough, he beat the tar out of him for it. Stebbins has carried a grudge ever—"

"Don't be a goose, Honey-Jo!" Bourne was coming into the hall. "That old business between Stebbins is a thing of the past." He threw his arm around the housekeeper's shoulders and gave her a hug. "You shouldn't have worried about us. Didn't you know I had arranged to meet Denny at Blue Heaven and bring her back for New Year's?"

"Of course, neither of us knew about Polly and Clay being over on Bear Creek until I bumped into them there. Then I just cut back down river and met Denny and Stebbins at Taylor's Number Two."

Denny, her mind centered on getting upstairs to retrieve her note, heard only enough of this to know that Bourne was lying magnificently—to save his own pride, of course. She started down the hall, but to her dismay Bourne placed himself in front of her and with that spuriously fond smile he used before others said, "Permit me, little White Water!" The next moment he had lifted her in his arms and he was laughing across her at Honey-Jo's puzzled face.

Despite Denny's perturbation, her body involuntarily relaxed in his support. As he carried her up the stairs, she felt small and light and helpless; but there was a comforting sense of protection and strength in his sustaining arms.

"One of the chief delights of adventuring, Denny," he said pleasantly, when he set her down at her own door, "is the joy of coming home again."

Then he passed on to his own quarters.

She sped to the locked door between her bedroom and his and stood there in an anguish of uncertainty, her ear pressed to the panel. He was moving leisurely about, getting out of his trail clothes. She could hear the faint squeak of his bed when he sat down. One foot thudded to the floor. The other dropped. Then silence.

Had he moved his pillow and found the note? Was he reading it now?

Finally she heard him go out into the hall and down toward the shower.

Footsteps came slowly toward the door against which she leaned, paused at the threshold, and then retreated.

She remained where she stood, for how long she did not know, while her mind searched apprehensively for the reason that had prompted Bourne's unusual action. Had he seen her leaving his room? But no; his hall door had swung so that its opening served to conceal the closing of hers. Had she left something behind her? That, too, was not possible, since she had the envelope safely in her pocket. He was dressing now; slamming drawers and singing again. There was an unwonted lilt in his voice as he repeated some lines of a song that was new to her.

"She's as fragrant as a river morn in springtime, When the saskatoon blooms white along the banks."

What could it be that had drawn him, for the first time, to her door? That seemed, even now, to be freighted with the words of his song with a personal significance. It never occurred to her that the faint perfume of her velvet robe—the distinctive fragrance that she alone used—had lingered on in that bare masculine room, informing him of her visit as surely as if he had seen her there.

New Year's Eve! River House, deserted by all the men, seemed very silent and empty. Denny, face down on a divan in front of the fire, turned the pages of a three-months' old magazine and wondered if the trailing sleeves of the black velvet gown she wore were hopelessly out of date. Rio was ensconced in her favorite chair, reading.

Tongass, on his cushion in a corner, suddenly threw back his head with a yawning "A-a-ee-ough!" his red tongue curling back into the toothy cavern of his distended jaws.

"Oh y-e-a-h!" mimicked Rio. "Well, I think you're right, Tong. This is a sweet set-up on New Year's Eve for dogs—and women. But men! Just listen to the whoopee they're making down at the pool-room. Denny. Isn't it the limit?"

Denny nodded, aware of sounds of wild merriment drifting up through the still night. Something of the kind was to be expected this evening, of course. But she was thinking how, regularly once a month, practically all the men in Tarnigan broke out in unison to "give their devils a run," as Harp put it. This community orgy, peculiar to the North, was accepted by Northerners as a commonplace to which no discredit was attached. This evening had been out of the ordinary because Revelry Bourne had, for the first time, joined the exodus, inducing Van Cleave to go with him.

"Men are devils," Rio announced. "You feel like booting them out of the way when they're cluttering up the house; but the minute they're gone, the bottom drops out of everything."

Denny looked at her appraisingly, secretly elated by her display of restlessness and discontent. Rio, she had realized, was free to leave Tarnigan any day she chose; and if she did, Denny was determined to accompany her. The older woman had lost all interest in Derek, now that the handsome half-breed had succumbed to her charms; and there seemed to be nothing to hold her longer at River House. "Rio," she said casually; "why are you staying here, where you are deprived of everything you care for? You could hire a dog team and driver to take you to the coast at any time. You could wire for a plane to come for you whenever the weather permitted. Have you ever thought of that?"

"Of course I have. And later on, I may take a notion to go. But after all, Denny, though I do kick a lot, there's something about this confounded place, even in winter, that gets me."

Denny, disappointed, said nothing; but she made up her mind to broach the subject again at a later date.

Rio rose also. "Ho, hum! All this excitement and late hours is hard on a young girl. Guess I'll toddle up to bed."

After she had gone upstairs Denny put some wood on the fire and turned out all the lights except a shaded lamp. She had the baffled, lonely feeling that everywhere else in the world gay, joyous things were happening and that she was shut out from them. She glanced at the clock. Allowing for the difference in time, it would be nearly midnight in San Francisco. New Year's Eve in San Francisco, dear city of laughter! In a surge of homesickness, she walked to the radio and turned the dial to a San Francisco station.

The strains of an orchestra came clear across two thousand miles of ether. The melody was the one to which she and Murray had first danced together.

Denny snapped off the radio and almost blindly walked to a couch and flung herself upon it, burying her face in her arms.

Yet, as she lay there, she realized that the ache in her heart was not for Murray. It was just that no one seemed to care deeply for her. Not any of her friends down south would be missing her tonight. The clock began to strike twelve. Simultaneously, bedlam broke loose in the village below. Whistles, moose calls, drums, cheers and yells, punctured at intervals by an enthusiastic emptying of Winchester. Tongass, suddenly alert, added an eager, subdued "Woof!" Then the bagpipes and the accordion, in magnificent discord, swelled the din.

Almost immediately a quartet began to sing—men's voices, drawing nearer. Boom and Harp, Bourne and Van, coming up the road together. She thought, "No doubt they are all a bit tight. I'll stay here in the dark until they've gone up to bed."

The four halted outside the gate, their figures indistinct in the starlight. She heard Van insistently declaring, "On such an occasion, my dear fellows, it would be a serious breach of etiquette, I assure you, not to serenade the ladies. I—"

The others hushed him, and Revelry herded the trio through the gate. Tongass pulled away from Denny and rushed around to the front door to meet his master. (To Be Continued.)
